Spotlight on the Alameda County Transportation Commission

The newly created Alameda County Transportation Commission (Alameda CTC) held its first Board meeting on July 22, 2010, implementing the first stages of the merger of the Alameda County Congestion Management Agency (ACCMA) and the Alameda County Transportation Improvement Authority (ACTIA).

Alameda CTC is a joint powers authority whose members include the 14 cities in Alameda County, the County of Alameda, AC Transit, BART, ACCMA and ACTIA.

Until all ACCMA and ACTIA functions are formally assumed by the Alameda CTC, the Commission will be acting on behalf of both agencies. Once the merger is complete, the Alameda CTC will take on the combined roles of the former agencies to plan, fund and deliver a broad range of transportation projects and programs to enhance mobility throughout Alameda County.

In assuming the duties of ACCMA, the Alameda CTC will continue to coordinate countywide transportation planning and attract state and federal funding for project implementation. For information regarding the various projects, programs and activities formerly directed by ACCMA, click here.

As successor to ACTIA, the Alameda CTC will continue to deliver the Expenditure Plan for Measure B, the half-cent sales tax approved by 81% of county voters in 2000. The Plan contains a number of capital projects -- such as freeway widening, interchange improvements, high-occupancy vehicle (HOV) lanes, BART extensions and transit station development -- as well as programs for local street and road improvements, special transportation services for seniors and disabled individuals, and transit operations. For information about Measure B projects, programs and activities formerly associated with ACTIA, click here.

The Alameda County Transportation Commission is governed by a 22-member Board of Directors and supported by staff of both ACTIA and ACCMA. Four Community Advisory Committees extend the agency's work, and the Alameda County Technical Advisory Committee will continue to provide technical feedback to the agency. The Commission appointed its new Executive Director, Arthur L. Dao formerly the Deputy Director of ACTIA, who began service on September 1, 2010.

The public is invited to participate with the Alameda CTC, to attend Board and Committee meetings, to join our planning activities, and to help the Alameda CTC create, maintain and extend mobility improvements that make Alameda County a great place in which to live, work and play!
